

By F. E. Parsons.

Members may be interested to know that the Swift Parrots (Lathamus discolor) are fairly numerous in the gum trees at Glen Osmond. I first noticed them about 10 days ago, and have seen them very day since. They are not at all shy, allowing one to get right under the tree while they are on the lower branches.

One flock of birds I tried to count while on the wing. It contained over 20.