

---

Bird Notes.

By Edwin Ashby.

At Blackwood on 28th July, 1934, a Yellow-winged Honey-eater (Meliornis novae-hollandiae) was busy building a nest in a Copper-leaved or Chinese Plumtree, which is bare of leaves. Nearby another bird of the same species has nested, and there are fledged young out of the nest.

---