

Bird Notes.

---

By J. B. Hood.

28/1/1936.—The Welcome Swallows, Hirundo neoxena, successfully reared two broods from the nest that was built down the well. The young were, I think, more developed than usual, and were able to fly better than those from the ordinary nesting sites. I have noticed how proficiently some Parrots can fly when they have been reared in deep hollows.

---