

By Alfred Crompton, Statenborough Street, Knightsbridge.

Hypotaenidia philippensis, Banded Landrail. — A bird was seen in the garden some four or five times, once in an enclosed vestibule verandah, between 1st and 6th February, 1937. It showed less nervousness than any bird of this species that I have ever seen.

---