

By Allen F. C. Lashmar, Antechamber Bay, Kangaroo Island.

On 22nd June, 1937, I saw for the first time here a Golden Whistler (Pachycephala pectoralis), a male; it was feeding on insects among the upper branches of a clump of "narrow leaf" eucalypts. I approached it closely and it took little or no notice of me.

---