

—July, 1921.—

By J. Sutton, Netherby.

Pallid Cuckoo (Cuculus pallidus).—This bird was observed for the first time this winter at Netherby on 16th July, between 1 and 2 p.m., but he did not call. On 17th inst. the bird first called at 8.38 a.m., several times during the day, and again at 10.25 p.m. He has called on five days since that date, the greatest silence was for four days.

Fan-tailed Cuckoo (Cacomantis flabelliformis).—This bird called for the first time this season at 7.44 a.m. on 20th July, and has been calling every day since.
